BIO:

Polish film and theater actress, graduate of the Film School in Łódź. Born in Moscow, but grew up in Poznań. Weronika graduated acting class in 2005, having already played three roles: "Ania" in a TV series "Zakręcone" (former "Panienki"), directed by P. Angerman; "Mrs. Weather" in a movie titled "Karol. Człowiek, który został papieżem" ("Karol: A Man Who Became Pope"), directed by G. Battiato; and an award-winning student film "Ciało moje". Her theatre debut took place in Teatr Nowy (Łódź) in an Aleksander Fredro's play "Poszaleli", directed by Eugeniusz Korin, where she played Józia. Later, she played in "Mistrz i Małgorzata" and "Termopile Polskie", both directed by Andrzej Maria Marczewski, again in Teatr Nowy. Weronika has also played in Teatr Bagatela (Cracow) in a play titled "Łoże", directed by Karolina Szymczyk (the play was awarded on the XXIII Acting Schools Festival). To date, Weronika Książkiewicz has played in the following plays in Warsaw: "Fredro dla dorosłych mężów i żon" (Teatr 6. Piętro), and Marcin Szczygielski's "Single i remiksy", directed by Olaf Lubaszenko. Weronika Książkiewicz is mostly popular for her comedy roles ("Rozmowy nocą", "Los numerous", "Podejrzani zakochani"), but she is most satisfied with her roles of strong women, like Jaga in a TV series "Prawo miasta" or recently an assassin Andreas in an Italian TV crime series titled "L'ispettore Coliandro" (for RAI 2). Weronika also played roles in other TV series, including "Rajskie klimaty", "Rezydencja", "Plebania", "Na Wspólnej", "Chichot losu" or "Piąty stadion". "Planeta Singli" is a movie, where Weronika plays a role of "Ola"; it will enter movie screens in Poland in early 2016.
